

THE CAMBRIDGE SCHOOL

Classical Education • Christian Worldview • Fully Integrated

Employment Opportunity Economics Instructor (Part-Time)

- Do you love teaching bright and capable students who are eager to learn?
- Do you have an entrepreneurial spirit that would thrive in a dynamic and burgeoning educational environment? Would you enjoy building a brand-new 12th grade economics course as a capstone to our Upper School courses in History and Government?
- Would you find it fulfilling to collaborate with a stellar faculty, some of whom have advanced degrees and choose to teach younger students?
- Would you benefit from a community of faith and learning that exudes both academic rigor and spiritual depth?

If so, The Cambridge School has a position opening that aligns with your interests. We are looking for a part-time teacher in our Humanities Department who can take on the responsibility of designing and implementing a one-semester 12th grade Economics course in the spring. A full-time position may be available if the applicant can teach other courses within the Department such as Literature or Logic.

We are a classical Christian school that increasingly is becoming recognized as a “gem, the school of choice,” for many San Diego families who are seeking both academic rigor and spiritual vitality. We take liberal arts education seriously, and it is our goal to grow students who are conversant in the historical roots of great ideas across subjects including literature, languages, math, science, logic, and rhetoric. Although young, we are fiscally sound and achieved a 6-year WASC accreditation in June of 2013. We are affiliated with ACSI and ACCS and provide a competitive compensation and benefits package to eligible employees.

Successful candidates will agree wholeheartedly with our Mission and Statement of Faith and must enjoy and work well with 12th grade students. A deep sense of purpose in understanding the marketplace in a Christian context, and a proven ability for bringing curiosity to life in students who are eager to learn is a must. An advanced degree in a social science and at least 3 years of prior teaching experience at the secondary level are a big plus but not absolutely required. If you could see yourself in an academically robust, collegial, collaborative, and mission-driven educational environment—one that teachers consider as a vocational destination rather than stepping stone—please send a letter of interest and your résumé or curriculum vitae to careers@cambridgeclassical.org.
